

The oldest house of Ovos Moles in Aveiro

— 1856 —

As the finest expression of Portuguese conventual pastry, we follow a recipe over five centuries old, created by the nuns of the region and preserved to this day by the hands of our confectioners.

Ovos Moles from Aveiro

The Ovos Moles of Aveiro are the finest expression of Portuguese conventual pastry and a tradition over five centuries old, whose original recipe is preserved by Confeitaria Peixinho.

peixinho

Each sweet is handmade, as tradition dictates.

There is no rush, no shortcuts – only the ancient knowledge that masters the art of confectionery. Ovos Moles are the city's best-kept secret, a conventual heritage that has remained intact for over a century and a half. Raivas de Aveiro – addictive, thin, crispy, with a touch of salt – follow an old recipe from D. Antónia. We promise never to change what time has already proven to be perfect.

At Confeitaria Peixinho, everything is made with soul and mastery, for you.

@confeitaria.peixinho
www.confeitariapeixinho.pt